

Our Team

For over 40 years, Children's Council has been at the heart of child care in San Francisco. With a diverse, experienced staff of 110, we strive to guide families through the challenging landscape of child care and preschool, while providing early educators with the skills they need to get our city's children ready for school, and ready for life.

Collectively, we possess the compassion, professional expertise and cultural competencies to serve our community. Many of our team members hold academic and professional certifications in pedagogy, child development, psychology, social work, public policy and family studies/health. Almost one-quarter of our team have real-world experience as child educators/caregivers and more than half are bilingual, with an incredible total of 13 languages spoken.
